Bakerstone Goth

(Medicine Ridge 100D x Bakerstone 234F)

Congratulations to Eric Blanchard, QC, who had a Nr.1 indexing progeny-proven ram in Canada - bred from a Bakerstone ewe!

PROLIFIC:

- Each year 30-35 of the 200 adult ewes raise quads.
- More than half the 250 females in the flock were raised as quads.

ROBUST:

- Selecting for strong boned, rugged Rideaus that perform under our grazing management conditions.

THE HUNGARIAN KUVASZ

A Truly Time Honoured Livestock Guardian Dog

Kuvasz are being used to protect sheep, goats, horses, cattle, poultry and other fowl, and property from predators on land and in the sky. eg. hawks, ravens, coyotes, bear, cougars etc.

Kuvasz will usually chase off the predator just as far as needed and come back to its charges.

Kuvasz do stay home quite well as they do not want any harm to come to their family (both 2-legged & 4- legged). Lots of Kuvasz' are loose on farms and stay within the boundaries ... this is reinforced by the owner's diligence to teach the boundaries to the dog (which is explained to new Kuvasz owners).

Kuvasz have a medium build and are very athletic, agile and light-footed.

Kuvasz are known as self-cleaning and low odour dogs. If they get covered in wet mud it simply dries and falls off. A Kuvasz with a proper coat is extremely low maintenance. The hair should not be straight, it should be wavy to very curly.

Kuvasz are NOT excessive barkers ... most only bark when necessary.

Kuvasz are all white or ivory in colour.

I am not going to say that a Kuvasz is hypo-allergenic because there is no scientific proof. However, they certainly seem to exhibit this quality because I have had numerous families who were allergic to every large dog they encountered, ... But did not have any allergic reaction to a Kuvasz. And for this reason many families who were searching for a large breed, did decide to purchase a Kuvasz.*
